I am immensely delighted to welcome you to Vidyasagar University, one of the leading academic institutes in West Bengal, India, located in the outskirts of Midnapore Town, the district headquarter of Midnapore West district. This State University was established in 1981 and has been flourishing steadily with lots of ramifications in academic sphere blending both traditional and modern subjects. I am privileged to start my teaching career at the University level after joining this University on 04.03.1991 in the Department of Zoology as one of the founder batch of teachers and completed a teaching career of more than 32 years of which more than 19 years as Professor of Zoology.

The University is named after Pandit Ishwarchandra Vidyasagar, the legendary 19th century pioneering social reformer, social activist, litterateur who was dedicated to the cause of the upliftment of the women. Since its inception, the University has committed itself to the gamut of teaching and learning in higher education, with the prime objective of rendering value based quality education and providing research and extracurricular activities in the best possible manner. All those efforts have been for spreading alongside the benefit of higher education in an environmentally challenged location (drought prone, lateritic soil, degraded forest and extreme climatic condition) inhabited mostly by poor and marginalised peoples of the society but which has a glorious history of playing a lead role in the freedom struggle of India. The University has registered its growth both qualitatively and quantitatively in terms of academic development, research outcomes and societal interactive process. Post-Graduate studies are conducted not only in 27 departments (14 Science subjects and 13 Arts & Commerce including 5 Language subjects) of the University but also in 35 affiliated colleges /institutions as well. In the course of these developments, however, we have not allowed our ecological concerns to take a back-seat for a moment.

The overall achievements of our University during its onward journey enunciating around 40 years back have promoted the University stakeholders to become more confident and determined to promote the spirit of progress in the academic circle of West Bengal and spread the message of quality and human friendly education to other parts of the Country. But this is not the end, it is rather a beginning and we have to undertake hard work and concerted efforts as a Team to achieve bigger goals both in the field of higher education and social reconstruction. Such committed and determined commitments are expected to make Vidyasagar University as one of the pioneering Universities not only in the field of academic and administrative activities but also as a centre of innovative ideas in Teaching, Research and Development. The entire community of Vidyasagar University is very much concerned about maintaining the ecological health of the campus which have been reflected to convert a huge chunk of waste land of about 200 acres as the very beginning of the University to a 'Green Belt' with the passage of time, with very little emission of atmospheric pollutants, alongside promoting several Green Technology based activities like bioconversion of solid wastes into organic fertilizers, promoting the propagation of pollinators alongside harvesting honey, production of mushroom culture, aquaculture, rain water harvesting, installation of solar panels, maintenance of orchards, maintenance of animal feeding sites etc. Apart from the Wi-Fi enabled Smart Campus with free internet, Vidyasagar University now boasts of 13 audio-visual Smart e-Class Rooms, RFID based Wi-Fi enabled Library, PWD compliant campus with assistive technologies, Ragging Free campus, scheduled Bus service and shuttle Car service, Placement Cell and Stress Management Cell, Modern Garbage Disposal System in the campus and Subsidized Meals to the postgraduate students. The only institutional setup for academic research on tribal culture and literature within the varsity system of this state is now located in our campus as an interdisciplinary Centre for Adivasi Studies. It maintains an Adivasi Museum as part of its archival project. Another feather in the cap of Vidyasagar University is the installation of a Sensor Based Continuous Air Quality & Real-time Noise Level Monitoring machine by the West Bengal Pollution Control Board, the first to have been installed by them in West Bengal. It is worthy to mention that the Cine Club of Vidyasagar University has been rejuvenated and has started screening quality films for Film education and entertainment of one and all. Beside this, a two storied Humanities Building has also been built and will be made operational shortly. Establishment of Psychological Counseling Centre has benefited a good number of students to combat different kinds of stresses, both familial and societal. The coaching for Civil Services Examination has been resumed from 2022 after a temporary pause due to COVID-19 pandemic. We have also participated in the disaster management programme of the State Government in the wake of the ravages left behind by the devastating cyclones.

As a Vice-Chancellor of this University I shall try my best to consolidate our strength more judiciously with the aim at achieving a model University Management System by inculcating value based holistic and integrated approaches so that the needs of the students are satisfied and expectations of society are fulfilled.

ABOUT THE DEPARTMENTS

Vidyasagar University started its academic activities, during the Seventh Plan Period (1985), from the session 1985-1986, following an Act of the State Assembly, to cater to the needs of higher education with special emphasis on the all-round development of the rural areas of the agro-based districts of Midnapore. environmental philosophy, environmental history, eco-criticism, cultural geography, cultural anthropology, and political ecology and also seek to integrate debates so far largely shaped by different disciplinary contexts.

Mission:

The Centre for Environmental Studies (CES) seeks to increase the understanding of current environmental issues. The objective of the centre is to disseminate adequate knowledge and skill among the researchers through proper training, survey and exposure to environmental issues in today's world. The students will also be trained in all aspects of environment management and cutting-edge technology in order to enhance their knowledge to address the recent environmental problems and management of these issues in a professional manner. (The emerging requirement for environment-conservation professionals shall be met by those trained by the Centre)

Programmes:Ph.D

The PhD in Environmental Studies is one of the most diverse doctoral programmes exploring environmental concerns. Adopting an interdisciplinary approach to environmental research, it connects conventional disciplines such as social sciences, humanities, arts, and natural sciences and several others in ways that encourage viewing issues through a broader, more contextual perspective.

This programme has three overarching aims

- To examine the nature, causes and impacts of major types of environmental change. How do these changes operate and interact on global, regional and local scales? How do they relate to critical social and ecological systems?
- To examine the economic, legal, cultural, and ethical underpinnings of environmental responsibility and systemic solutions, including mitigation, adaptation, remediation, enhanced resource stewardship and other sustainable responses to environmental change at different scales and within different organizational contexts; and
- To empower environmental leaders to address the world's most pressing environmental problems through an understanding of and training in the key analytical and practical skills, and in a broad appreciation of earth systems and societies in relation to environmental change.

Centre for Adivasi Studies and Museum

About the Centre:

Vidyasagar University is located in a socio-economically backward district of West Bengal. A substantial number of students of the University belong to the socio-economically disadvantaged groups, mainly the adivasi communities like Santal, Bhumij, Lodha, Munda, Shabar, Kora, Ho, Birhor etc. This Centre specially caters to the needs of the adivasi students who want to pursue higher studies and engage in research activities related to the fields including tribal literature, art and culture. The museum houses rare tribal artifacts that are objects of particular academic interests for scholars pursuing research in cultural studies and anthropology. The non-tribal students derive benefit from this centre by studying in the fields of Adivasi literature and culture and other allied disciplines along with the tribal students. Thus, the centre provides a space for an intimate exchange between different forms of cultures – the so-called mainstream and the marginal, and resists the privileging of the former over the latter.

Vision:

The Adivasi Studies is no longer an ‘other’ in the domain of academic research. At present, it is a field of much interest to the academicians all over the world. The Centre for Adivasi Studies and Museum (CASM) at Vidyasagar University offers higher studies and awards degrees and certificates in the related field. From the academic year 2019-20 it has started offering three self-financing courses: Certificate Course in Museum Studies; M.Phil. and Ph.D programmes in Adivasi Studies. At present the CASM runs Ph.D. programme in Adivasi Studies. The Centre regularly organizes conferences/workshops to spread new ideas in the field of Adivasi Studies. The centre invites experts from different parts of the country and beyond to shape the future course of Adivasi Studies. The centre has recently collaborated with Institute of Ethnology and Anthropology, Russian Academy of Sciences, Moscow, Russia and Nuremberg University of Music, Nuremberg, Germany. It has plans to join hands with allied centres / study circles across the country for the promotion of Adivasi Studies. The CASM has also published. book.

Objectives:

The students and scholars attached to the centre make extensive field-trips to the tribal-dominated villages to collect texts and artifacts which are essential for the understanding of Adivasi art, literature and worldview. The texts are documented and translated into the target languages including Bangla, Santali and English. The texts are assessed as cultural texts and analysed from a linguistic point of view. The cultural performances of the tribal communities which represent their seasonal festivals, social rites and rituals among other things are properly recorded and documented with a view to creating a state-of-the-art digital archive.

Adivasi Museum

A museum is a building used for the storing, preservation, and exhibition of objects considered to be of lasting value or interest, as objects illustrative of antiquities, natural history, fine and industrial art etc. A tribal museum is obviously a museum with a difference. It takes care of articles/artifacts that are representative of tribal art and culture. It speaks of a civilization that is very ancient, a culture that is primordial. Our country does not have many tribal museums. And our state, perhaps, has the only tribal museum which is located in the campus of Vidyasagar University. The museum conserves and showcases various articles ranging from ornaments to musical instruments, from agricultural implements to clothes which all stand for an indigenous culture. All the items have distinct tribal names. Thus, in the exhibition hall displaying agricultural implements, we see 'Nahel', the plough used by the Kherwardian people, with its 'Ishi', 'Patkhil', 'Kanba', 'Pawnra', 'Phal' etc. In the gallery for musical instruments, among other articles, is conserved the stringed cum wind instrument called "Hotot Bhuang" which people of the Santali and Munda communities used as musical instrument to camouflage as a weapon (bow and arrow) during war with foreign invaders. Historians of music maintain that it was the first instrument of its kind in the world. In the section displaying clothes we see the tribal 'Lugri' which is made out of 'Sutam'. This 'Sutam' is available from the plant 'Kaskom' the name of which is found in ancient Sanskrit literature. The museum has a wonderful collection of ornaments including 'Hanshli', 'Tora', 'Banki', 'Baju', 'Dimbra' etc which are used by the people of different tribal communities. The visitor to the museum will also see the household items like 'Jonok', 'Hatak', 'Theka', 'Chala' etc; cooking utensils like 'Chelang', 'Tukuj', 'Karahi' etc; and instruments like 'Ruka', 'Renda', 'Korat', 'Tanga' etc which all speak volumes for the day-to-day existence of the tribal people. These articles have largely been collected from the tribal-dominated villages in Orissa, West Bengal and Jharkhand. The special attraction of the museum is the rare collection of tribal patachitra (scroll painting). These paintings reflect the distinctive lifestyle and worldview of the Adivasi communities. These paintings co-exist with the Kalighat patachitra. We have thus a space for heterogeneous cultures in the museum.
